Hahnemann Today

FOREWORD

The roar of cannon and the scream of bombs brings to the breathless waiting world of today a challenge. A challenge which makes men clench fists and gives women a grim sense of determination and responsibility.

We, the American Nurse, with an increased determination and a renewed responsibility have prepared to accept that challenge. By God's Grace and with His Help we pray that our hands might be used to alleviate suffering, our lips to bring words of cheer, our spirits to mend broken hearts, and, if necessary, our lives be fully given so that the crashing ring of today's wars might be replaced in tomorrow's dawning by the clear sweet clarion call of peace.

May today have been for tomorrow.

Hahnemann Tomorrow

In Commemoration of

MAUDE E. CALHOUN LYLE

Dedication

As time flies on its eternal and widespread wings and the class of '45 slowly begins to unfold its own, we halt on the threshold of the future, ponder for a moment and gaze backwards.

There it stands—our Hahnemann. It holds for us many memories, the most precious of which is that of Miss Maude E. Calhoun Lyle, our former dean. With the greatest respect we wish to dedicate our book, the VIGIL, to her. Our garden of memories is sweeter and richer because of the true inspiration and high ideals which came to us through her. From her sympathy and understanding, as well as example, we were able to catch a glimpse of true nursing. She left to us as a heritage the memory of true leadership, honor, unselfish loyalty and undying spirit.

"And when the stream that overflowed the soul was passed away, a consciousness remained that it had deposited upon the silent shores of memory, images and precious thought that shall not die and cannot be destroyed."

Wordsworth

RENA D. MOORE
Acting Director of Nurses

Shortly following our entrance into Hahnemann we were introduced to the new Director of Pedagogy, Miss Rena D. Moore.

Through our years here she rose from that position to Associate Director, and upon the death of our Dean, Miss Lyle, became Acting Director.

This position, assumed during the wartime situation, was more than adequately fulfilled by her sound judgment and stability.

In following years we will remember that which she so profoundly taught us—tolerance, foresight, and responsibility. It is with deep sorrow that this class says farewell to one who has so befriended us.

The Medical Director wishes to congratulate the Class of 1945 on their high standard of work during the past year and their ability to work under stress when the case demanded it. If it were not for the splendid work of the student nurse in the hospital, we could not under any circumstances carry on our work in a normal manner.

I hope those of you who are going into the armed services will bring back to the Medical Director very soon a lock of hair from Hitler and Hirohito.

I wish all of you happiness and prosperity.

R. W. Plummer, M.D.
Medical Director

ADMINISTRATION

Your comprehensive training, given to develop understanding, character and personality, has equipped you with a good educational and cultural background for professional service.

Upon entering the profession of nursing, you will find many women who are capable, loyal, human and unselfish, for this service to mankind demands such. The ambition to excel in your nursing technique, along with a sympathetic understanding of the needs of your patients, when combined with the development of the heart as well as the brain, will insure your attainment of the highest in the fine art of nursing.

Your nursing education here at Hahnemann has been a valuable preparation for life. Go forth with an earnest desire to serve, for this with a normal amount of intelligence, will repay you with happiness and satisfaction.

FACULTY

PRIVATE FLOORS—14. 15. AND 16

As you alight at any of these—our private floors—you are instantly aware of quietness. subdued lighting and an easy efficient manner with which all cases are handled under the guidance of the Misses T. Marcelonis. G. Connors. and E. Jones.

SEMI-PRIVATE—8th BROAD and 9th

Some say these are the busiest halls in the hospital. which may well be true. For here it is that we find all types of cases. Surgery and medicine combine to keep Miss F. Simpson and Mrs. H. Pigozzi constantly on the alert.

ORTHOPEDICS

The home of the Bradford frame and Buck's extension to say nothing of the wheelchair. crutch. and cast. It is on this department that we find Miss K. Teller ever anxious to introduce some new orthopedic term into our nursing vocabulary.

CENTRAL SUPPLY ROOM

In an emergency this is where we come for trays. solutions. needles. syringes. and no end of other sterile articles. On Mrs. C. Cleaver. who ever checks and rechecks to keep these things sterile and complete, our entire hospital depends.

PEDIATRICS

Children. We love them, though sometimes we wonder after so many for so long on Pediatrics. But despite frequent tears and cries for mother, these kiddies seem to enjoy their stay on seventh floor. The nurses do, too . . . ask Miss M. Elwell.

GYNOCOLOGY

Under the guiding hands of Mrs. C. Leman and Miss M. Parker we soon came to know the gyn procedures backwards and forwards. After spending several weeks on this department one learns the finale of this woman's world!

MEDICAL

At this favorite abode of the oxygen tent and mask we find Mrs. R. Bunt and Misses J. Eshleman, M. Hoover, and Mrs. B. Jenkins heading a smoothly run medical department. Those of us with a love for medicine find this a busy but all engrossing place.

SURGICAL

Did someone say "emergency"? If that's the case we have the Misses V. Lowe, J. Dodson, E. Mirto, F. Gray, and E. McGinley to direct the student action that will see the patient safely into the operating room before he realizes he's in the hospital.

OBSTETRICS

Where life begins there's bound to be excitement and Hahnemann's OBS department is no exception. Here the main question is when? The Misses H. Deakyne, M. Davies, and H. Weisensale teach us the principles behind the correct answer. The rest is up to you . . . and nature.

OPERATING ROOM

In spite of that empty feeling that first morning we cross the O. R. threshold many claim this. their first love at Hahnemann. Scrubbing takes on a new meaning under the watchful eyes of the Misses B. Hervey, P. Young, and M. Hicks.

OUT-PATIENT DEPARTMENTS

Much experience comes to us (especially the Jerseyites! under Mrs. K. Bringhurst who rules Admission Room. When working in the out-patient clinics we receive enlightening and valuable information from Miss S. Fine.

NIGHT SUPERVISORS

The dark but not always quiet nights of our institution are always under control when ruled by the 7-7 staff lead by Misses C. Reynolds. E. Pilney, and A. SeKellick.

RESIDENTS

Joseph H. Watson, Joseph A. Sciuto, Robert P. Gouldin; Lewis C. Hitchner, James A. Snyder, Oscar N. Rambo, Jr. Not hungry—Paul J. G. Grotzinger, Franklin C. Massey.

INTERNES

Charles T. McCutcheon, Victor E. Gambone, Eugene J. Agnone, Robert S. Boyer, John F. Leedom; Francis R. Souder; Manuel F. Alsina-Capo, John L. Tomlinson, Edward A. Parker; Armand Castagna, Stanley J. Yamula, Joseph M. Gambescia, Robert E. Drewery, Charles J. Ingersoll.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

OFFICERS OF STUDENT GOVERNMENT

President	Isabelle Richards
Vice-President	Jean Leonard
Secretary	Adele Bracey
Treasurer	Dorothy Miller

The students of these halls of learning are always careful to make as few plans as possible for the second Thursday of every month, for that day constitutes the "gathering of the clan" or mass meeting. It has been proved to us by our President, Miss Isabelle Richards, with her ready wit that not all meetings of this type are dull, uninteresting affairs, although we know that the first half hour will wing it's way with the oft repeated importance of "wearing hats, stockings, hairnets, clean shoes, the consequences of taking illegal overnights and being nice to the maid, because it's rumored that help is difficult to obtain".

The Advisory Board to Student Government is Student Council consisting of a President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, two members from each class and the Dean who act in the capacity of this group. These are the longbeards one must see when Cinderella comes in four minutes after twelve with the well-known excuse. "Mrs. McMullan, I missed the last bus from Camden" or, "The Paoli Local ran off the track".

On a whole the method of self-government and system of honor makes for better cooperation between the faculty and student body; pride and loyalty to the school is evident.

NEWMAN CLUB

As the Autumn of each year comes around, the Newman Club, as usual, commences its yearly cycle of activities. This club is a Catholic organization; however, membership is not limited to only those of the Catholic faith.

At the meetings of this club, every two weeks, a variety of lectures, debates, discussions, dances, and other social activities which stimulate interest and anticipation are presented.

The more immediate aims of the Newman Club are to inspire nursing and to make religion a necessary part of it, as well as being instructional and entertaining.

President	Mary Gruber
Vice-President	Kathleen Gallagher
Secretary	Betty Deice
Treasurer	Dorothy Ferenze
Sponsor	Father McErlane
Faculty Advisor	Bernice Kent, R.N.

The Christian Fellowship meets on the first Thursday each month offering spiritual development and fellowship to all the nurses. It is a group of Hahnemann Nurses organized for the purpose of promoting Christian spirit and socialibility throughout the school. At these meetings various social functions and activities are enjoyed by all its members.

The past year the Christian Fellowship has had a creditable gathering; more girls than ever have assembled to hear such fine speakers as Rev. Steigleman of the Philadelphia Gospel Tabernacle and Rev. Pearce of the Radio Program, "Christian Voices."

President	Natalie Mahlow
Vice-President	Betty Davis
Secretary	Katherine Hauser
Treasurer	Evelyn Krall
Sponsor	Rev. Reisch
Faculty Advisor	Elizabeth Cook, R.N.

FELLOWSHIP

GLEE CLUB

We are proud of our glee club, under the efficient leadership of Miss E. Morgan, for it symbolized cooperation, watchfulness and obedience of mind. Each year it is composed of different members as the new pre-clinical class enters Hahnemann.

This musical organization, delightfully feminine, of course, not only claims to have a well rounded repertoire but practices faithfully every week so that it may add to the distinction of the school. The members graciously contribute their voices on Christmas Eve when they sing carols through the corridors of the hospital in a modest effort to bring cheer and add a thought of home for those who are ill. We, who were on duty those nights, know how much gladness they bring even to our hearts.

We have not had many other opportunities to see them as a body, but we have listened to them during their hourly rehearsals and heard the rich harmony of their voices. Especially, do we acclaim their spirituous interpretation of "The American Patrol". We know they deserve mention—

So, we salute you our "Hour of Charm" the girls' glee club of Hahnemann.

SENIOR STORE

The old familiar cries of "The Senior Store is open tonight"—"Open for business"—"You will be a senior someday" could be heard in the nurses' home every evening of the week—except Saturday and Sunday. Maybe it was a headache to have an appealing specialty each night, but it was so nice to be able to "come as you are" for that evening snack.

It was based on the cash-and-carry plan and "be sure to return your empty Pepsi Bottles." Every senior who took pride in the fact that she was a member of our class felt it her duty and privilege of "having the store tonight." She assumed the duties of collecting the food, opening the store for business, doing a good job of sales talk, and then closing up shop with a report that business was as good, if not better, than any previous night.

As small as it was, the Senior Store was the greatest financial factor in making "The Vigil" possible.

A Distinctive Yearbook . . .

is the product of the efforts of a capable editor plus the interested cooperation of a seasoned specialist. To an editor, who wishes to make a success of his first publishing venture, specialization offers innumerable advantages that are most helpful—in fact—indispensable.

It is advisable to have a specialist handle your yearbook. Investigate the services of "Campus," an organization whose entire business is college and school publications.
